COVID-19: Keeping our customers, employees and their families safe and healthy

To our Valued Fargo Freightliner Family,

Thank you for your continued patronage at Fargo Freightliner.

The health and well-being of our customers and the Freightliner team is our top priority. As COVID-19 continues to have an increasing impact in our communities and our nation, we wanted to communicate with you directly to share more about what we are doing to help keep our customers, employees and their families safe and healthy.

We have taken steps within our company to develop guidelines informed by the CDC and state health agencies so that our dealerships may remain open and available to serve our valuable customers in a safe and healthy manner. To accomplish this, we have implemented new procedures to rigorously clean and sanitize our facilities and promote infection control practices for our employees and customers.

We will be adding hand sanitizer stations in our facilities for use by both our customers and employees. We have increased the frequency and degree of cleaning and sanitizing high touch surfaces such as door handles, lounge areas, delivery vans, and bathrooms throughout the day. Each night, our cleaning staff has been instructed to deep clean our full facility. Additionally, we have communicated with our employees the information they need to stay healthy and mandated that they stay home if they aren't feeling well.

It is important to exercise personal responsibilities by washing hands frequently and following the CDC recommendation of social distancing.

Thank you for your loyalty!

Sincerely,

Fargo Freightliner
